

A Statistical Analysis on Women's Status in Rural Areas of Uttarakhand

O.K. Belwal<sup>1</sup>, Pushpa Panwar<sup>2</sup> and Navin Bhatt<sup>3</sup>

ABSTRACT

Even a guaranteed free primary schooling, only about 39 percent of all women in India actually attend primary schools. There are several reasons why families choose not to educate their daughters. One reason is that parents get nothing in return for educating their daughters. Another reason is that all the females in a household have the responsibility of the housework. Most jobs women perform are agricultural or domestic which do not require formal education. In this paper comparative analysis between male and females regarding awareness and nature of education has been done.

Keywords: Demographic data, status, attitude.