

A Study of the Administrative Success as Related to Risk Taking Behaviour and Experience of Degree College Principals of Kanpur University

Suman Lata Singh¹

ABSTRACT

The principal is the central figure in the college. The principal's administrative success depends upon personality, Family Relationship, Risk-taking Behaviour Experience etc. It was observed that effective principals are more experienced and like to take more risk. The present research paper is based on administrative success, risk-taking behaviour & experience. Can an experienced and successful principals take more risk taking decisions? Should he develop his style over a long period of service. Should more experienced principals be more successful in their administration? Such questions ultimately lead to the selection of some specific problem in this direction.

Keywords: Risk-taking Behaviour Experience; Family Relationship.